

The regional conferencing and business events sector in NSW has experienced a considerable downturn in bookings and many cancellations due to the current situation. However, companies, conference organisers and event planners will be looking to book new meetings and events in regional NSW in the future, so it is important to be ready.

Regional Business Events

Meet in Regional NSW is a dedicated resource for event planners and Professional Conference Organisers (PCOs) developed by Destination NSW to help drive conference and business events to regional NSW. The website is also a resource for regional NSW venues and suppliers to the business events industry looking to promote their product and/or service.

It is important for venues and tourism businesses to keep their information up to date and available for event planners and PCOs to search and plan. Destination NSW has a dedicated team available to offer support and resources to event owners and planners as well as industry operators around NSW.
